DCMS and its arm's-length bodies

The Department for Culture, Media and Sport funds the national museums, the arts and sports councils for England, heritage bodies, the British Library and the BBC (through the licence fee), and regulates gambling and charities. Most of its money is spent by 34 arm's-length bodies. The BBC's licence-fee-funded spending sits in its demand-led (AME) budget.

The DCMS departmental group: total spending and its budgets, 2025-26 prices, £ billion

Line chart of the DCMS departmental group's total managed expenditure, resource DEL and resource AME from 2011-12 to 2028-29, in 2025-26 prices.

Total spending is total managed expenditure as each body reported it to the Cabinet Office; staff are full-time equivalents on 31 March. The National Lottery Community Fund and the heritage funds spend Lottery money, which is not government funding. The BBC is a public corporation, not in this directory; its staff are in the BBC section.

On the map

An interactive map or explorer appears here on the live page.

The map covers the whole UK. Where the nations publish the same measure, they share one scale. Where they publish different ones, each nation is shaded against its own measure on its own scale, named in its own part of the legend, and the nations cannot be compared with each other. Where a nation publishes nothing for a measure, the map says so and links to what it publishes instead. Pick an area for its figures and a link to its page.

Every one of the council areas, on each measure on the map England: Arts Council England National Portfolio funding, per resident a year, 2023-26. Scotland: Creative Scotland Multi-Year Funding, per resident a year, 2026-27. Wales: Arts Council of Wales multi-year funding, per resident a year, 2024-25. Northern Ireland: Arts Council of Northern Ireland annual funding, per resident a year, 2024-25. The nations' figures are different measures and are not directly comparable.

What each measure counts

- Visits Visits to the museum or gallery's sites in the financial year, as it reports them to DCMS under the performance indicator guidance. Each museum counts in its own way; DCMS advises caution comparing years affected by closures.
- Grant-in-aid per visit Grant-in-aid divided by visits in the same year, worked out here. Grant-in-aid also pays for collections care, research, loans and online services, so this is not a subsidy per visitor.
- Grant-in-aid as a share of total income Grant-in-aid as a percentage of the body's total income in DCMS's statistics (grant-in-aid, admissions, trading, fundraising and donated objects), worked out here. A large donation in one year lowers the share.
- Overseas visitors Visits by people living outside the UK, as a percentage of all visits, worked out here from DCMS's tables.

Arts funding by organisation: Arts Council England's National Portfolio

Arts Council England offered 985 organisations a yearly grant for 2023-26 (since extended to March 2027), a total of £445m a year, against £368m a year on average in 2018-22. That is £7.67 a year per resident of England. Each organisation's grant is below, and every area's total per resident after it.

The BBC licence fee: what it raises and where it goes

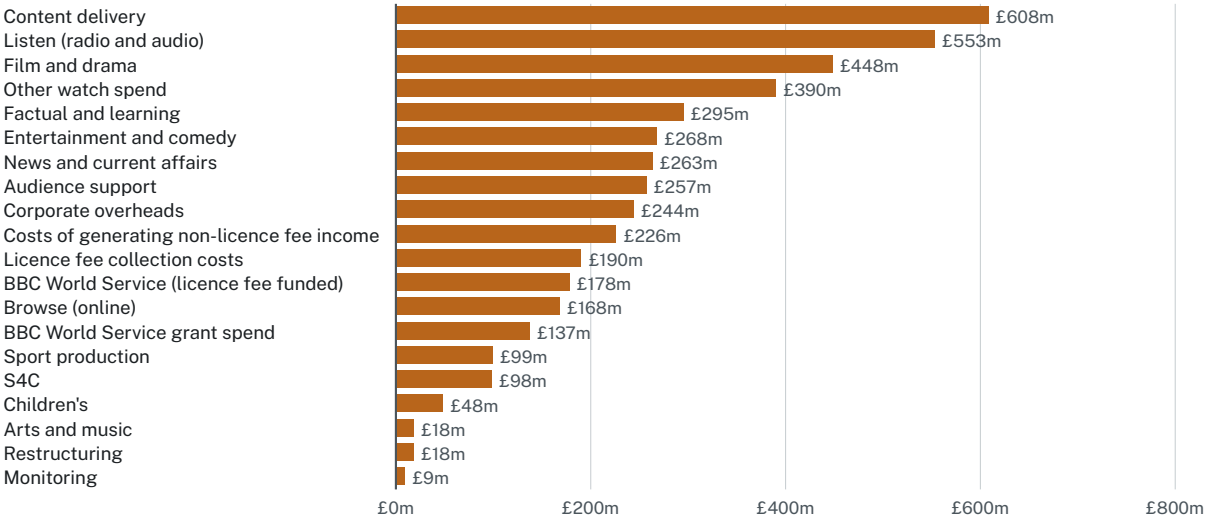

The licence fee is £180 a year from 1 April 2026 (what it is and who pays). It raised £3.9bn in 2025-26. The BBC collects it and pays it into the Consolidated Fund, and DCMS pays a matching grant back to the BBC. The BBC spent £4.5bn on its public services in 2025-26, £2.6bn of it on content.

Licence fee income, collection and evasion

Year	Net licence fee income	In 2025-26 prices	Evasion rate	Cost of collection	Free over-75 licences
2021-22	£3.8bn	£4.6bn	9.38%	3.2%	—
2022-23	£3.7bn	£4.2bn	10.58%	£137m, 3.7%	759,000
2023-24	£3.7bn	£3.9bn	12.04%	£145m, 4.0%	775,000
2024-25	£3.8bn	£4.0bn	12.29%	£166m, 4.3%	825,000
2025-26	£3.9bn	£3.9bn	11.93%	£191m, 4.9%	827,000

Each year's figures are from the Trust Statement for that year or the one after it. Evasion rates are the latest published estimate: the BBC revises the previous year's rate in each statement, and the newest year is a first estimate (error range plus or minus 0.5 percentage points). Collection costs are from the National Audit Office's report printed with each statement. Free licences are available, funded by the BBC, to anyone aged 75 or over who receives Pension Credit or lives in qualifying residential care (Trust Statement 2025/26, note 1). A further 282,000 free over-75 licences were issued in residential care in 2025/26 on top of the 827,000 shown.

Data packs, pages 227, 231, 235 and 238. Income by nation is the BBC's estimate from the share of licensed premises; spend is direct and indirect spend on programmes produced in the nation (network and the nation's own services), before and after a transmission amortisation adjustment. Income and spending in the nations do not add up to the BBC's totals: UK-wide costs such as news gathering, the World Service and overheads are not assigned. The BBC employed 21,376 full-time equivalent staff on average in 2025-26 (17,317 in its public service), against 21,773 a year earlier. Figures checked against the BBC's reports on 24 September 2026.

Where your area sits

Two figures compare English local authorities fairly: Arts Council National Portfolio funding per resident (England: £7.67 a year) and Sport England awards to local organisations per resident (England: £4.65 a year, 2023-24 to 2025-26). Both count money where the organisation is based.

What each measure counts

- Arts Council National Portfolio funding per resident The yearly Arts Council England grant to National Portfolio and Investment Principles Support Organisations based in the local authority (district or unitary, by where the organisation is based, not where its audiences live), divided by the area's residents. England only: the few organisations Arts Council England funds that are based in Wales are left out of the map. National companies based in London and other cities serve audiences well beyond their area. Arts Council England's site refused our connection when these figures were last updated on 13 November 2026, so they are from the copy read on 29 September 2026 and may be out of date.
- Sport England awards to local organisations per resident, a year Sport England awards (Exchequer and National Lottery) to organisations based in the district or unitary authority, averaged over the last three complete financial years and divided by the area's residents. Awards to national governing bodies, which work across England, are left out. Awards are counted in the funding year Sport England gives them, and one large facility grant can dominate an area's figure. England only.

By nation: sport and culture per resident

Identifiable public spending per resident, 2024-25, cash

Nation	Recreation and sport	Cultural services	Broadcasting
England	£47.72	£62.86	£4.57
Scotland	£105	£110	£4.69
Wales	£90.31	£92.51	£4.09
Northern Ireland	£103	£137	£6.22

HM Treasury's country and regional analysis: spending that can be identified as benefiting each nation, divided by its own population. Culture and sport are devolved: Creative Scotland, the Arts Council of Wales and the Arts Council of Northern Ireland, and the sports councils, are funded by their own governments. Most BBC spending is UK-wide and is not counted in any nation.

Source: HM Treasury, Country and regional analysis 2025: B tables, published 19 November 2025.

What these figures do and don't show

- Different measures of money are kept apart. HM Treasury's spending by function (the long-run chart and the drill-down), DCMS's budgets, DCMS's grant-in-aid to each body, Arts Council and Sport England grants, UK Sport's four-year cycle funding and the BBC's accounts each count something different. Each table says which it is, and none are added together.
- The BBC is most of the UK-wide figure. Its licence-fee-funded spending counts as public spending in HM Treasury's figures, but is not assigned to a nation. What the licence fee costs and whether it is a tax are on the TV licence page.
- Grant-in-aid is not the whole of a body's money. Museums also earn from admissions, trading and fundraising, and a single large donation can change a year's total income. Arts Council England and Sport England also distribute National Lottery money.
- Arts and sport grants are counted where the organisation is based. A national company based in London serves audiences across the country, so per-resident figures by area show where funded organisations are, not who benefits.
- Visits and medals are not what the money bought. Visitor numbers depend on free entry, tourism and closures, and are shown beside grant-in-aid only for context.
- Where a level is not published, it says so. Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland fund culture and sport through their own bodies, which publish grants only in annual reports; councils' spending on libraries, museums and leisure is on the local government page.
- Price bases are stated. Real terms use HM Treasury's GDP deflator. Arts Council, Sport England, UK Sport and BBC nation figures are cash.
- Machinery-of-government changes are marked. DCMS lost its digital functions to the Department for Science, Innovation and Technology in 2023; older years of its budget include them.

Science and R&D: what government spends on research and where it goes

Public services · Last updated 13 November 2026 · https://whereyourmoneygoes.co.uk/science/

£20.8bn was spent on research and development in the UK in 2025-26, £300 per resident. That is +7.2% on a year earlier after inflation (+10.8% in cash). In 2025-26 prices it has gone from £7.9bn in 2006-07 to £20.8bn. Government paid for 20.1% of all R&D done in the UK in 2024, which came to 2.71% of GDP. UKRI decided awards worth £5.1bn in 2025-26, funding 18.7% of the applications it decided.

The short version

- Four measures, shown apart: HM Treasury's R&D by function, ONS's R&D by funder, all UK R&D (ONS, calendar years) and UKRI's award decisions.
- UKRI is the largest single funder, then departments (the NHS through DHSC is the largest), the university funding bodies and defence: £6.8bn of £20.4bn in 2024-25.
- From 2026-27 UKRI budgets by priority, not by council, so council figures stop at 2025-26.

Government R&D by what it is for, £ billion, 2025-26 prices

Stacked bar chart of UK government R&D by function from 2006-07 to 2025-26. In 2025-26: General public services, including basic research £510m; Defence R&D £2.9bn; Public order and safety R&D £1m; Economic affairs R&D (most civil science and innovation funding) £11.3bn; Environment protection R&D £484m; Health research £2.9bn; Recreation, culture and religion R&D £107m; Education R&D (university research funding) £2.6bn.

Who pays for it

Government R&D by funding body, £ billion, cash

Line chart of net R&D spending by UK government funding body from 2013-14 to 2024-25: UK Research and Innovation (research councils before 2018-19) £6.8bn; Civil departments and devolved governments £5.8bn; Higher education funding bodies (one per nation) £3.4bn; Ministry of Defence £3.1bn; International programmes (Horizon Europe and EU) £1.4bn.

Government's part in all UK R&D

All R&D carried out in the UK came to £79.4bn in 2024, 2.71% of GDP. Government, UKRI and the funding bodies paid for 20.1% of it (£16.0bn); business paid for most of the rest. These are calendar-year figures on a different basis from the spending figures above.

Research England	£2.3bn	£2.4bn	£2.6bn	formula

Budgets are the core council allocations from the department's allocation pages; they leave out UKRI-wide budgets (talent, infrastructure, strategic programmes), about a third of the total. Research England's awards are mostly formula grants to English universities, so it has no meaningful award rate.

UKRI awards made each year: value committed (£ million, cash) and award rate

Line chart of UKRI funding decisions from 2015-16 to 2025-26: value committed £3.0bn to £5.1bn; award rate 44.3% to 18.7%.

From 2026-27: budgets by priority, not by council

UKRI now allocates by four priority "buckets". It says these cannot be compared with earlier council budgets.

UKRI budget by priority, £ million (plans)

Priority	2026-27	2027-28	2028-29	2029-30
Curiosity-driven research	£3.7bn	£3.6bn	£3.6bn	£3.6bn
Strategic government and societal priorities	£1.9bn	£2.1bn	£2.1bn	£2.2bn

Where it goes: nations and regions

UKRI counts an award where its lead organisation is. Universities in London, the South East and the East of England lead a large share, and a grant led from one place often pays for work in several. Per-resident figures are for the four nations only.

UKRI awards decided in 2025-26, and R&D carried out in each area in 2024

UKRI awards are financial years; R&D carried out is ONS's calendar-year estimate of R&D performed by universities and by government bodies located in the area, whoever paid. The UK row includes awards whose lead organisation's location is not known.

What each measure counts

- UKRI awards made, value Total value committed in UKRI competitive funding decisions made in the financial year (research grants, fellowships and training grants), by where the lead organisation is. A commitment is spread over the life of the grant, so this is not one year's spending.
- UKRI awards made, per resident UKRI award value committed in the year to lead organisations in the nation, divided by the nation's ONS mid-year population. Universities serve the whole UK, so this is where research is led, not who benefits.
- UKRI award rate Applications funded as a share of applications decided in the financial year. It depends on the mix of schemes applied to, so it is compared with care.
- R&D performed by universities R&D carried out in the nation or region by higher education institutions, from all funders, calendar year (ONS).

- R&D performed by government and research councils R&D carried out in the nation or region by government departments, research council institutes and other public bodies, calendar year (ONS).

Who receives it: universities, institutes and companies

On 13 November 2026 Gateway to Research listed 26,063 active projects worth £15.8bn in total, led by 1,545 organisations. The table lists the 200 with the most award value as lead organisation.

Award value is the whole value of each grant over its life, counted against the lead organisation even where partners share it. It includes awards UKRI administers for others, such as the Horizon Europe guarantee.

The Department for Business and Trade was renamed the Department for Business, Innovation, Science and Trade (BIST), covering science and innovation from foundational research to scaling up firms (UKRI's budget explainer now names BIST as the department that allocated its budget); AI strategy and the AI Security Institute moved to the Cabinet Office; the Government Digital Service and telecoms moved to an expanded Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport. - Advanced Research and Invention Agency (ARIA). Net spending of £152m in the year to 31 March 2026 (£31m the year before), of which £129m on R&D programmes, with 82 staff (FTE). Annual report and accounts.
- Horizon Europe and Copernicus. The UK paid £1.1bn in 2023-24 and £1.2bn in 2024-25 to associate (ONS). The UK associated to Horizon Europe and Copernicus from 1 January 2024 under a bespoke agreement: no payment for the years UK researchers were excluded (2021 to 2023), and a new automatic clawback that compensates the UK if UK participants receive significantly less than the UK pays in. The UK did not associate to Euratom and set up its own fusion programme instead, backed by up to £650 million to 2027. Prime Minister's Office and DSIT, UK joins Horizon Europe under a new bespoke deal, 7 September 2023.

What these figures do and don't show

- Four measures, never added together. HM Treasury's R&D by function (the long-run chart and the top of the drill-down), ONS's R&D by funding body, ONS's R&D across the whole economy (calendar years) and UKRI's award decisions (commitments spread over several years) count different things and do not match.
- Plans are not spending. Council budgets, the department's plans to 2029-30 and UKRI's 2026-27 priority budgets are allocations. They are kept apart from outturn.
- UKRI does not publish spending by council. Council budgets and award values are the nearest published figures. From 2026-27 UKRI budgets by priority, so council figures stop being comparable.
- Where an award is counted is not where its benefit falls. Awards are counted where the lead organisation is; partners elsewhere share many of them. Nation figures from HM Treasury are identifiable spending only, and nations do not add up to the UK.
- No local level. No public body publishes R&D spending by council area. The lowest published levels are the English region and the lead organisation.
- Researcher numbers are partial. HESA's staff data could not be read, so people named on UKRI awards stand in for researchers. Awards and people are shown beside the money, not as what it bought.
- Machinery of government. Science moved from BIS to BEIS (2016), to DSIT (2023) and, in July 2026, to the Department for Business, Innovation, Science and Trade. Department lines change name at each move; ONS's totals carry across them.
- Price bases. Real terms use HM Treasury's GDP deflator in the price base stated. Other figures are cash.

Foreign affairs and aid: the FCDO, embassies and aid

Public services · Last updated 13 November 2026 · https://whereyourmoneygoes.co.uk/foreign-affairs/

£10.3bn was spent on international services (diplomacy and aid) in the UK in 2025-26, £149 per resident. That is −4.3% on a year earlier after inflation (−1.1% in cash). In 2025-26 prices it has gone from £10.2bn in 2006-07 to £10.3bn. Aid was £13.1bn in 2025, 0.44% of gross national income, against a plan of 0.3% by 2027. The FCDO runs 280 overseas posts.

Aid and diplomacy: what the money is spent on

Of the £10.3bn the UK spent on international services in 2025-26, £7.2bn was foreign economic aid and £3.1bn external affairs. International services are compared with every other kind of public spending on where public money goes and where every £100 of tax goes. Aid as the OECD counts it is a different, wider measure; it is further down this page.

The department: before and after the merger

The FCDO's budget was £10.9bn in 2025-26: £7.4bn of programme spending, £3.2bn of capital and a £333m administration budget for running costs. The fall after 2020-21 is mostly the cut in aid from 0.7% to 0.5% of national income.

Aid: the target, who spends it and what it costs to run

The UK spent £13.1bn on aid in 2025, 0.44% of gross national income. It first reached 0.7% in 2013. The FCDO spent 69.1% of it; the rest went through other departments, above all the Home Office's support for asylum seekers in the UK. Administration costs were £790m (6.0% of all aid).

UK aid as a share of gross national income, %

Line chart of UK aid as a share of gross national income from 1970 (0.36%) to 2025 (0.44%), with the 0.7% target.

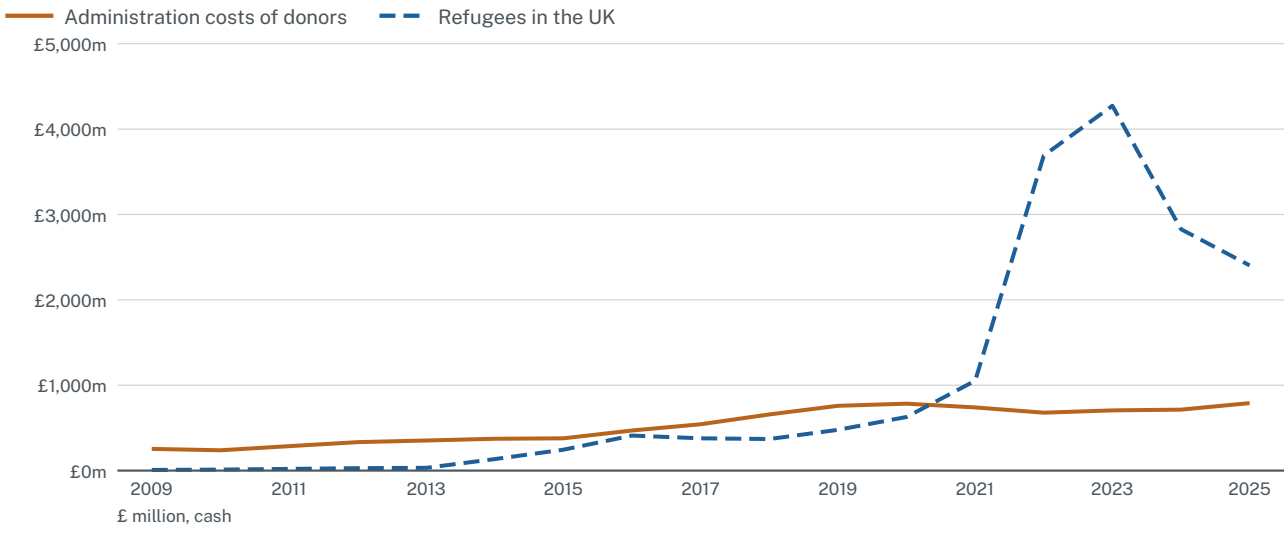

How the aid target has changed

- 26 March 2015 The International Development (Official Development Assistance Target) Act 2015 puts a duty on the Secretary of State to meet the target of 0.7% of gross national income as aid each calendar year from 2015. (legislation.gov.uk: International Development (Official Development Assistance Target) Act 2015)
- 25 November 2020 Spending Review 2020: the UK will spend the equivalent of 0.5% of gross national income as aid in 2021, about £10 billion in 2021-22; the government says it remains committed to returning to 0.7% when the fiscal situation allows. (HM Treasury, Spending Review 2020, paragraph 7.17)
- 25 February 2025 The Prime Minister announces that higher defence spending will be paid for by reducing aid from 0.5% to 0.3% of gross national income; the government remains committed to returning to 0.7% when fiscal conditions allow. (Prime Minister's Office, press release, 25 February 2025)
- 27 March 2025 Spring Statement 2025: aid falls gradually from about 0.5% of gross national income in 2024-25 to 0.3% by 2027, with budgets set on the Spring Statement's forecast of national income rather than moving automatically with it. (HM Treasury and FCDO, Future international development spending set out in Spring Statement)

What each figure counts

What each measure counts

- UK official development assistance (aid) All UK spending that counts as aid under the OECD's rules, by every department and fund, in the calendar year; cash.
- Aid as a share of gross national income UK aid divided by gross national income, the measure the 0.7%, 0.5% and 0.3% targets use. Calendar years; the method for counting some loans and in-donor refugee costs changed in 2018.
- Aid administration costs Bilateral aid recorded as "administrative costs of donors": the running costs of managing aid that are not charged to a programme. Calendar years, cash.
- Aid spent on refugees in the UK In-donor refugee costs: the first year of support for asylum seekers and refugees in the UK, which the OECD rules let donors count as aid. Calendar years, cash.
- UK-based staff (payroll headcount) The FCDO's UK-based payroll staff at the end of the month, in the UK and overseas; excludes country-based staff employed locally by embassies, and contractors.
- Country-based staff at 31 March Staff recruited and employed locally by the FCDO's posts overseas, at 31 March. From the annual report (hand-kept).
- Overseas posts Officially designated overseas posts: embassies, high commissions, consulates, permanent missions, Overseas Territories posts and other representation, as the annual report counts them (hand-kept).
- British Council income from its charitable activities Income the British Council earns from English teaching, exams and contracts (the register's "charitable activities"), year to 31 March.
- FCDO funding for the BBC World Service The FCDO's grant to the BBC World Service in the financial year, ODA and non-ODA together, from the FCDO's annual report (hand-kept). The licence fee pays for the rest of the World Service.

What these figures do and don't show

- Three measures, not one. HM Treasury's international services (the long-run chart), the FCDO's departmental limits (the drill-down) and aid as the OECD counts it measure different things and do not match.
- Financial years and calendar years are kept apart. Spending and budgets are financial years; aid statistics are calendar years and are never added to them.
- The merger is a break. The FCO and DFID merged on 2 September 2020. PESA restates the merged department from 2016-17; earlier years add the two departments together here, and their boundaries moved over time.
- Some figures are worked out here. External affairs is international services less foreign economic aid; programme spending is total DEL less capital and the administration budget; the British Council's total income is added up from its parts.
- Not everything is published. There is no spending by embassy or post, and no nation level: foreign affairs are reserved and spent for the UK as a whole. The FCDO stopped publishing its payments over £25,000 after January 2025.
- Hand-kept figures come from PDFs. Staff at 31 March, the overseas network, British Council grant and BBC World Service funding are from the FCDO's annual reports, each checked on the date shown.
- Nothing here shows cause and effect. Staff, posts and aid are shown beside the money, not as what it bought.

The cost of running the benefits system

Public services · Last updated 13 November 2026 · https://whereyourmoneygoes.co.uk/cost-of-running-the-benefits-system/

£9.7bn was spent on running the benefits system in the UK in 2024-25, £140 per resident. That is +3.1% on a year earlier after inflation (+7.1% in cash). In 2025-26 prices it has gone from £11.2bn in 2021-22 to £10.0bn. DWP alone spent £9.6bn running the system in 2025-26, beside £309.8bn of benefits and pensions paid: about £3.09 for every £100 paid out.

The short version

- Running costs have fallen as a share of what is paid out: from £6.39 per £100 of benefits in 2006-07 to £3.09 in 2025-26, mostly because benefits and pensions grew faster.
- DWP is one of the largest employers in government: 84,110 full-time equivalent staff at the end of 2025-26.
- Two budgets, never added: benefits are demand-led (AME); running the system comes from a fixed departmental limit (DEL).
- Scotland and Northern Ireland run their own: Social Security Scotland for devolved benefits, and Northern Ireland's Department for Communities for all of social security there.

Running costs beside the benefits they pay

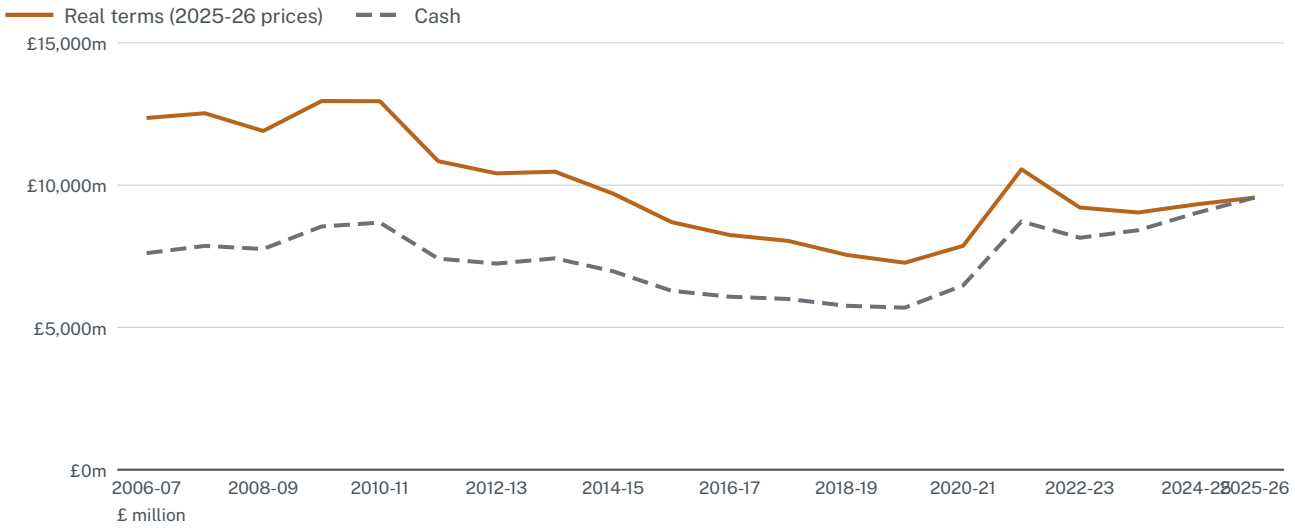

DWP has two budgets. Benefits and the state pension are annually managed expenditure, set by demand. Running the system (staff, jobcentres, service centres, IT, contracted assessments and employment programmes) comes out of its departmental expenditure limit, set in spending reviews. They are shown here side by side and never added.

What each measure counts

- Running costs What the body spends on running the benefits it administers, cash. DWP: resource DEL excluding depreciation and the skills lines; Social Security Scotland: administration costs in its accounts, including payments to DWP for benefits it still delivers under agency agreements; Northern Ireland: the Department for Communities' "operational delivery" line (net of what DWP and others pay it for work done for them).
- Benefits paid Benefit spending by the body, cash. DWP: resource annually managed expenditure (almost all of it benefits, including the state pension). Social Security Scotland: benefit expenditure in its accounts.
- Running costs as a share of benefits paid The body's running costs divided by the benefits it paid in the same year. For DWP: resource DEL (excluding the skills lines moved in 2025) over resource AME. For Social Security Scotland: administration costs over benefit expenditure in its accounts. The two cover different benefits and definitions, so they are not a like-for-like comparison.
- Administration budget (HM Treasury definition) The part of DWP's resource DEL that HM Treasury classes as administration: head-office and back-office costs. Frontline staff in jobcentres and service centres count as programme spending, not administration. The definition was narrowed in 2011-12, so earlier years are left out.

What the running costs are spent on

What DWP's resource DEL was spent on, cash (DWP core tables, 2025-26)

Year	Staff costs	Goods and services	Running costs in all	Staff share
2025-26	£4.9bn	£3.3bn	£9.6bn	51.6%
2024-25	£4.5bn	£3.0bn	£9.0bn	49.8%
2023-24	£4.1bn	£2.7bn	£8.4bn	49.1%
2022-23	£3.8bn	£2.5bn	£8.2bn	46.5%
2021-22	£3.9bn	£2.6bn	£8.7bn	44.6%

Staff costs and goods and services are the two biggest parts; the rest is grants (to councils for running Housing Benefit, and the Household Support Fund) net of income. These are DWP's "of which" lines for its whole resource DEL, which includes small staff costs of the skills bodies transferred in 2025.

Nation	Headcount	Share
England	78,535	83.9%
Wales	6,585	7.0%
Scotland	8,455	9.0%

DWP staff in Northern Ireland are too few to publish and are suppressed; staff overseas or with no recorded location are left out. DWP runs benefits for Great Britain as one, so staff in one nation also serve claimants in others.

Social Security Scotland had a headcount of 4,249 at the end of 2024-25, from its accounts.

Source: Cabinet Office, Civil Service Statistics 2019 to 2026: statistical tables, published 29 July 2026; Social Security Scotland, Social Security Scotland: annual report and accounts.

Scotland and Northern Ireland

Social Security Scotland runs the benefits devolved to Scotland (Adult Disability Payment, Child Disability Payment, the Scottish Child Payment and others) and pays DWP to keep delivering some of them until they move across. Early years are small because the agency was being built up. In Northern Ireland, social security is devolved and run by the Department for Communities, which also does work for DWP and is paid for it; the net figure takes that income off.

Social Security Scotland: running costs beside benefits, cash

The two are not comparable with DWP or with each other: they run different benefits and their accounts draw the line between running costs and other spending differently. Northern Ireland's benefits are paid partly from its National Insurance Fund, so no single benefits total is set beside its running costs here.

Offices, and what is not published

- DWP opened 194 temporary jobcentres during the pandemic; by March 2026 all but one had closed, and it is being converted into a permanent jobcentre. In 2025-26 DWP also left 4 established jobcentres and 4 service and support centres. DWP Annual Report and Accounts 2025-26, estates section, checked 24 September 2026.
- In Northern Ireland, Universal Credit was run from three service centres, two satellite service centres, 35 Jobs & Benefits offices and an operational control centre in Belfast (2021-22). Department for Communities: Annual Report and Accounts 2021-22, checked 24 September 2026.

Figures asked for that are not published, and why

- Cost per claim for each benefit DWP does not publish a regular unit cost per claim or per benefit. Its accounts give running costs by type and by section, not by benefit.
- The cost of the contracted health assessments for PIP and the Work Capability Assessment (the Functional Assessment Service) Not a separate line in DWP's core tables or accounts notes; it sits inside "running the department". National Audit Office reports give contract values for particular years.
- Running costs by jobcentre or service centre Not published. DWP does not publish a count of its jobcentres in its accounts either; what it says about its estate is shown above.
- England, Wales and Scotland separately for DWP DWP runs benefits for Great Britain as one and does not split its running costs by nation. Its staff are split by nation (Civil Service Statistics), shown here.
- HMRC's cost of running tax credits and Child Benefit Part of HMRC's costs, on the cost-of-collection page.

Benefit money lost to fraud and error, and appeals, are on benefit fraud, error and appeals. What benefits are forecast to cost is on the welfare spending forecast.

What these figures do and don't show

- Running costs and benefits are kept apart. The running cost is never added to the benefits it pays; the share of benefits is worked out from the two, year by year.
- "Running costs" is DWP's resource DEL, which is wider than administration. It includes employment programmes, grants to councils for running Housing Benefit, the Household Support Fund and the Health and Safety Executive. The "running the department" line and HM Treasury's administration budget are narrower measures, shown alongside.
- Like for like across years. The skills programmes moved to DWP from the Department for Education in 2025 are taken out of every year, and depreciation is left out throughout. Budgeting rules changed in 2011-12, and the source changes from PESA to DWP's core tables in 2021-22.
- Cash and real terms. Tables and the side-by-side chart are cash; the long-run chart also shows real terms in the dataset's price base (HM Treasury GDP deflator).
- The UK total covers only years all three bodies publish. DWP (Great Britain), Social Security Scotland and Northern Ireland's Department for Communities are added up only where all three have figures; DWP alone goes back to 2006-07.
- No figure for your area. Running costs are not published by jobcentre, service centre or local authority, so this page has no local breakdown.
- Nothing here measures how well the system runs. A lower share of benefits can mean efficiency, more pensioners (cheap to administer) or less support; see the fraud and error page for one measure of accuracy.

Running government: the Cabinet Office, Treasury, HMRC, Parliament and the Sovereign Grant

Public services · Last updated 13 November 2026 · https://whereyourmoneygoes.co.uk/running-government/

£19.9bn was spent on running government, Parliament, the tax system and diplomacy (the "executive and legislative organs" heading) in the UK in 2025-26, £286 per resident. That is +6.5% on a year earlier after inflation (+10.0% in cash). In 2025-26 prices it has gone from £18.3bn in 2006-07 to £19.9bn. HMRC spent 0.51p to collect each £1 of tax in 2025-26. The Sovereign Grant was £132.1m in 2025-26.

The short version

- From 2021-22 the figure includes EU withdrawal payments (£7.8bn that year), which inflate it; they are shown apart.
- The departments that run the money cost little beside it: HMRC's budget is well under 1% of the tax it collects.
- 71,210 civil servants in HMRC at 31 March 2026, 2,140 in the Treasury.
- The Sovereign Grant follows Crown Estate profits: a fixed share of profit two years earlier, never lower than the year before.

What the UK figure holds

HM Treasury counts spending on “executive and legislative organs, financial and fiscal affairs, external affairs” together. In 2025-26, £16.0bn of the £19.9bn was running government, Parliament and the tax system, £3.1bn was diplomacy (on the foreign affairs page) and £771m was payments under the EU withdrawal agreement, which HM Treasury has counted here since 2021-22.

Parliament

Westminster cost £1.2bn in 2024-25, including capital. IPSA pays MPs' salaries and office costs; staff and office costs averaged £275,197 for an MP who served all of 2024-25, and every MP's costs are on MPs' pay and expenses.

The monarchy: the Sovereign Grant

The grant was £132.1m in 2025-26, 12% of the Crown Estate's £1,100.7m profit in 2023-24. The formula takes a share of the profit two years earlier, and the grant can never fall. It is £137.9m in 2026-27.

2012-13: The first year of the Sovereign Grant, which was set at £31.0 million for 2012-13; £2.3 million of spending above the grant was drawn from the reserve. 2017-18: From 2017-18 the grant rose from 15% to 25% of Crown Estate profits for ten years, the extra 10% to pay for reservicing Buckingham Palace. 2022-23: 25% of the Crown Estate's 2020-21 profit came to less than the year before, so the grant stayed at £86.3 million: by law it cannot fall. 2024-25: The 2023 review cut the share of Crown Estate profits from 25% to 12%, in light of the expected increase in those profits from new offshore wind developments; 12% of 2022-23's profit was less than £86.3 million, so the grant stayed there. 2026-27: The final year of reservicing money. The Royal Trustees' 2026 review sets the share for 2027-28 onwards. Checked 24 September 2026.

Devolved parliaments and governments

Each nation's figure in the drill-down is its identifiable spending under the same heading. The running costs below come from the Scottish and Welsh budgets and HM Treasury's database. Budgets are plans, not spending. Northern Ireland's Assembly and civil service running costs are not yet here: they are published only in PDF accounts and budget documents.

Devolved running costs, £ million, cash

Welsh Government staff and running costs	Wales	2026-27	Budget	£359.3m

The Scottish Government's administration line stopped in 2018-19, when running costs were spread across portfolios; its corporate running costs line starts in 2022-23, so the two are not one series. Core Scottish Government staff and running costs across every portfolio, plus corporate running costs (digital, estates, procurement, finance, legal, HR). Autumn budget revision.

Who spends on public and common services

HM Treasury's wider heading "public and common services" adds general services and research to running government, and leaves out diplomacy and debt interest. The largest part in 2025-26 was Local Government.

Public and common services by department, 2025-26, £ million, cash (PESA 2026 table 5.1)

Department or sector	2025-26

Justice	£5m
All	£24.9bn

What each figure counts

What each measure counts

- HMRC's cost of collecting each £1 of tax HMRC's overall cost of collection: its costs of collecting tax as a share of the tax it collects, in pence per pound, as HMRC's annual report works it out. From 2021-22 the ratio is shown net of customs and international trade, a change of method. Tax by tax, and for every other tax and benefit, on the cost of collection page.
- Civil servants, core department (headcount) Civil servants employed by the core department, excluding its agencies, at 31 March, from the annual Civil Service Statistics (Office for National Statistics to 2018, Cabinet Office from 2019). Rounded to the nearest 10 or 5. Departmental boundaries move: the Cabinet Office count rises and falls as functions move in and out (from 2021 it includes Government in Parliament, the statistics note).
- Civil servants, department and its agencies (headcount) The whole departmental group at 31 March: for HMRC with the Valuation Office Agency; for the Treasury with the Debt Management Office, the Government Internal Audit Agency and the Office for Budget Responsibility; for the Cabinet Office with its agencies and the Fast Stream. Published this way from 2019.
- Net expenditure met by the Sovereign Grant The Royal Household's official expenditure (staff, property maintenance, travel and other costs) less its own income from tours, recharges and rents, met from the grant and the reserve. From the Sovereign Grant accounts (hand-kept).
- Crown Estate profit (the Sovereign Grant's base) The Crown Estate's income account net surplus for the base year, two years before the grant year, which the grant is a share of. Keyed by the grant year it set (hand-kept from the Royal Trustees' reports).
- HMRC call attempts handled The share of calls to HMRC that were handled. To 2020-21, call attempts to its advertised numbers; from 2021-22, contacts to all its helplines, a change of method.

What these figures do and don't show

- Several measures, not one. The UK and nation figures are spending by function across the public sector; the departments are their departmental expenditure limits; Parliament is HM Treasury's outturn database. They do not add up to each other.
- UK and nation figures are different things. Most of the UK figure is spent for the UK as a whole and is in no nation's figure; each nation's figure is only what can be traced to it. England-only and UK figures are never added together.
- Some figures are worked out here. The split of the UK figure (external affairs, EU settlement payments and the rest), programme spending, Parliament's total and the Sovereign Grant's transfer to or from its reserve.
- Machinery-of-government changes. Departments gain and lose functions; each PESA edition restates its years to the boundaries of the day, and staff counts move with them. HMRC and the Treasury are shown apart only from 2011-12.
- Budgets are marked. The Scottish and Welsh running costs are mostly budgets, and the plans for the departments are plans; neither is spending.
- Not everything is published. There is no spending by place for the UK bodies. The houses of Parliament, the Scottish Parliament and the Northern Ireland bodies publish their detailed accounts only as PDFs, some on sites that block automated reading.
- Nothing here shows cause and effect. Staff, calls answered and tax collected are shown beside the money, not as what it bought.
